To Whom It May Concern;

I have known Cheyenne Cook for approximately three years. I met her at the barn where we both keep our horses. Cheyenne has worked at the barn as part time stable help for the past year, and in that time I have come to know her as a courteous and pleasant young lady, who has a passionate love for her horse. She is a hard worker and is willing to assist with any task asked of her. She works well with the staff and clients of the stable and can work competently on her own. She is also mentoring up and coming riders at the barn.

I have also been at horse shows where Cheyenne competes successfully at the local, Regional and National levels in the Arabian circuit. It takes a lot of hard work and dedication to get to the National level and win, which she has done multiple times. You have to qualify to move up from one level to another and compete against horses from all over North America as is the case with Canadian Nationals, US Nationals, Youth Nationals and Sport Horse Nationals. I am sure she will show the same dedication and drive and excel in order to meet her future goals.

Sincerely,
